

Panthi Patel

Panthi is a computer science major that has experience in coding, group organization and is willing to put in effort to achieve her goals and improve herself.

Education

Illinois Institute of Technology

Bachelor of Computer Science

May 2022

Major courses taken include differential equations, calculus three, linear algebra and matrices, object oriented programming, discrete mathematics, probability and statistics, database organization, physics, and data structures and algorithms.

Skills

- Experience in java programming
- Experience in python coding
- Introductory experience in c code
- Introductory experience in Mips
- Introductory experience in OCaml

Projects

Java Program

2018

- Models a date instance, allowed user to set a date, check for leap year, and various other tasks

Java Program

2019

- a contact management system (database) that stored contact information such as name, address, email, and phone number allowed for information to be added, deleted and searched by user

Database Management System

2020

- PostgreSQL programming with Java a corporation management system that stored information relating to inventory, employees, and orders, depending on employees clearance and credentials Information could be altered, removed and updated

Experience

- Tutor 2018
- Organized nonprofit animal adoption fundraiser 2018
- Engagement Manager 2020

Personal Information

Address

[REDACTED]

Phone

[REDACTED]

E-mail

ppatel122@hawk.iit.edu

Languages

English - proficient
Gujarati - Elementary proficiency

Awards

Dean's list